

End of 281

Probus celebrated his German victories with a triumph held at Rome towards end of 281. Lush spectacles involving wild animals, and gladiators in the hundreds. Captives Germans, Isaurians and Nubians who had been paraded in Probus's triumphal procession were then finished off in a series of bloody gladiatorial contests.

The rebellion of Proudhon & Bonosus
at Cologne was suppressed